Large format printing

You've come to the right place!

We specialize in complete
identification systems.

Are you looking for complete solutions for your warehouse?
Do you want it to become a center for generating competitive advantage?

Let us help you achieve your goal! We have been supporting organizations across Europe in the professionalization of logistics and warehousing operations for thirty years. A group of over 140 consultants will support you with their knowledge and experience to help you achieve amazing results.

Modern machinery

Modern machines are the basis for producing a high-quality product. For years, we have been investing in technologies that not only ensure the highest quality of labels and signs, but also allow us to stand out from the competition. This is due to the wide range of embellishments that we use on our products. We print using a wide range of technologies: from classic flexography, which has been known for years, to digital production – both printing (InkJet UV) and finishing (digital cutting and milling).

Markings and signage

Warehouse, production, industry

Our philosophy is to be a “one stop shop” for the logistics needs of our Customers. One of the cornerstones of our business is the production of self-adhesive labels and signs used to mark warehouse and production areas. The right machines, years of experience, and hundreds of completed projects across Europe guarantee that we can properly mark any warehouse or logistics center.

Floor markings

Floor markings work well when there is no room for other forms of signage. It is ideal for displaying safety signs as well as marking block storage or pallet locations.

Rack and aisle signs

Each individual place on a storage rack should be marked with a self-adhesive or magnetic label with an individual number with a barcode or 2D code.

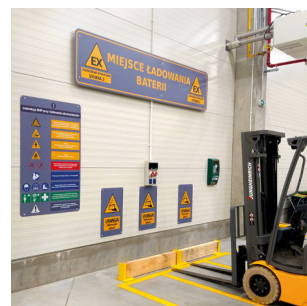

Painting horizontal lines

We paint horizontal signs in open areas (parking lots, maneuvering areas), but also inside buildings (warehouses, public utility buildings).

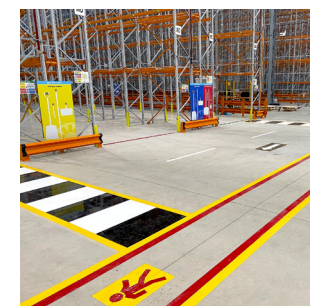

Suspended signs

Suspended signs can complement floor markings, but they can also be used as stand-alone signs. They will perfectly indicate the location of block storage or critical infrastructure.

Information signs

A well-marked warehouse should be easy to navigate and esthetically pleasing. Informational signage not only ensures compliance with health, safety, and fire regulations, but also enhances employee comfort.

5S products

5S products guarantee an organized and orderly workplace. This ranges from establishing traffic routes and visual communication to organizing equipment. With 5S, you will achieve balance in your warehouse or production space.

Company clothing – visual identification of employees

We offer printed clothing, lanyards, and ID badges for warehouse and production employees. The individualization of work clothing makes it easier to understand the organizational hierarchy.

Markings and signage

Offices, public space, retail

Window and floor decorations

They are valuable carriers of information and can also enhance the privacy of meeting rooms. This requires printing on special materials and professional installation that guarantees high esthetics.

Health and safety signs

They increase the safety of work and ensure that the workplace meets formal occupational health and safety standards.

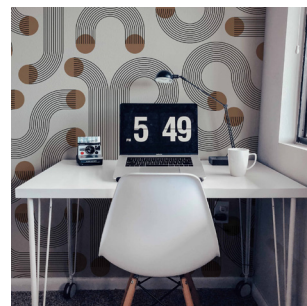

Facade signs, signboards, outdoor signs

Do you want Customers to find your facility easily? The use of unique outdoor signage will ensure that no one misses your store or office.

Information signs, nameplates

Proper informational signage for workplaces, offices, stores, or public spaces is critical to the architectural transparency of a facility. Our company designs, manufactures, and installs these types of signs.

Wall murals

Modern offices and stores should be unique. Our wall murals meet all health and safety standards. Spaces decorated with wall murals create a pleasant atmosphere.

Dry erase boards

Magnetic boards, permanently mounted or on frames, are used as a communication tool within organizations. We create boards with any print and format required.

Road signs

We design and offer road signs in accordance with applicable regulations and standards. This type of signage is a great way to organize zones, such as in large parking lots.

Marketing, advertising

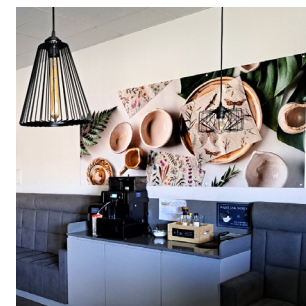

Paper posters

Posters are a classic form of wall decoration. They work well as an information medium in commercial campaigns and as marketing decorations for public spaces.

Roll-ups

The advertising message presented during seminars or conferences should be consistent and tailored to the nature of the event. We produce durable roll-ups made with care and attention to detail.

Printing on various flat materials

Sometimes an advertising printout requires the use of a rigid plate. This type of advertisement is convenient to apply, durable, and visually appealing.

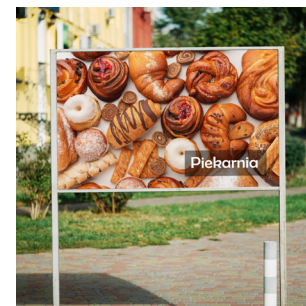

Window films and murals

Advertisements on windows and wall murals are a form of large format advertising prints that require not only the highest quality of production, but also precise installation.

Banners

Banners are a form of large-scale outdoor advertising. We make them from banner film that is resistant to external conditions.

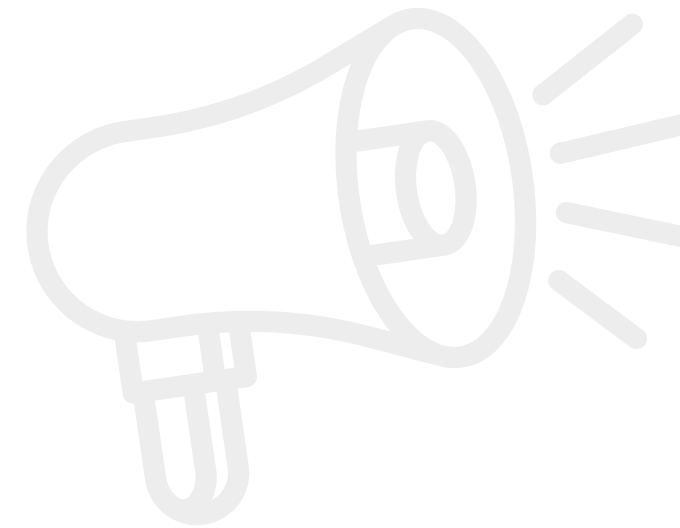

Advertising boards

Made of light metal materials and resistant to all adverse external factors. We offer boards on custom-made frames, powder coated in any color.

Dimensional letters, signboards, indoor signs

Highlight the importance of your brand with dimensional advertising signage that provides uniqueness and prestige wherever it is displayed.

We support Customers from the advertising industry with great ideas, design, fabrication, and installation of remarkable marketing signage. Regardless of the space available and the nature of the message, we will find a sign that fits perfectly into the overall marketing concept of any project.

Labels and tied tags

Versatile information carrier

Self-adhesive label printing house

We are a professional self-adhesive label printing house, working with flexographic and digital technology. Our equipment allows us to face almost any challenge in the area of labeling.

Product labels

The self-adhesive label is the basic form of product identification. It is used for informational purposes, but primarily for marketing. In a time of fierce competition, the label can make or break a product.

Tied tags

If the type of the product does not allow the application of a self-adhesive label, an adhesive-free tag can be used. We produce paper and textile tags with increased durability.

Information labels

Information labels are made of materials that ensure durability for many years. They can be used to provide information on how to use a product or as nameplates.

Logistics labels

Logistics is one of the areas where self-adhesive labels are used the most. Marking goods at the warehouse entrance, pallet labels, or courier labels, are the domain of this business area.

Industrial labels

Industrial labels need to be particularly durable. Our range of self-adhesive industrial labels guarantees resistance to high temperatures and other external factors such as acids, alkalis, etc.

Variable data labels

Our digital machines for the production of self-adhesive labels are particularly suitable when large quantities of variable data labels must be delivered in a short time. We personalize up to a million labels a day.

Selected recommendations

„We have been working with the HIT-Kody Kreskowe Iglescy Sp.J. printing company since the beginning of 2017 and have completed many successful projects together. We appreciate the good print quality, which is particularly important for our labels, and the attractive price levels. It is also important to mention the flexibility and speed of implementation.”

Wojciech Młodawski
Purchasing Director

“We are very satisfied with the cooperation with HIT-Kody Kreskowe. We operate in the production of labels, stickers, and marketing materials. We have never been disappointed at any stage of cooperation – very friendly, helpful, and efficient customer service, top quality workmanship, and, importantly, carefully packaged products to avoid damage. Full professionalism, which is why we can confidently recommend cooperation with HKK (Hit - Kody Kreskowe).”

Natalia Krobska
Marketing Manager

“Cooperation with Hit-Kody Kreskowe was fast and efficient. All designs were carefully crafted, from small plaques to large format graphics that adorn the walls of our company. Professional advice and installation, friendly service, and trouble-free contact. We are very pleased with the results, which only confirms that we will continue to use the company's services in the future.”
